

National Black HIV/AIDS Awareness Day 2011

PSA (:30)

African Americans face the most severe burden of HIV out of all racial-ethnic groups in the U.S. On February 7, communities, organizations, and governments mobilize to increase awareness in the African American community of the importance of getting educated, tested, treated, and involved in the fight against HIV and AIDS.

To learn more, visit www.cdc.gov/hiv.

A message from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.